The Limited Linbillty Act. (From the Times.)	-
Some time has elapsed since the Act for Limitens Limbility in commercial partnerships, came nto operation. It will be remembered, perhaps	A OAPA that great public benefits were anticipated from this measure, and that, though certain objections	moderate were advanced, the arguments in behalf of the proposed legislation desidedly preponderated. It was said, in the first place, that cripital would be-	A N EIG that any class except the positive dreaters of the new concerns could be exected to any injury. The	L BAS constituents as they desired. Contail was obtainable for schemes which in the ordinary state of the market would have met with but little support.	tf 2305

New establishments were ready with funds for any undertaking, however costly, provided the prospects were attractive. At the same time, the	SEVEN primised enhancement in the rate of interest was, to all amendance, fully realised. The old figures	NF 2224
of three four, or five per c at, were supersoded by ten, fifteen, twenty, or thirty, so that this part of the programme was fulfilled as well as the other.	A TE EX
